

NATIONAL-LEVEL INFLUENCING

Girls' and women's movements have always been at the forefront of driving change in their communities and countries, and Equal Measures 2030 is committed to supporting their powerful work. We support organizations in six countries to leverage data and evidence to help power their advocacy for gender equality and the achievement of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) for girls and women.

Equal Measures 2030 believes that better quality, easy-to-use data and evidence can drive change globally and in the countries where we work. In each country, our national partner is using data and evidence to influence national and sub-national policies and spending to help achieve the SDGs for girls and women.

Each national partner has a distinct approach and thematic focus, united by their commitment to achieving gender equality through data-driven advocacy.

Apoorva Asham/Plan International

Equal Measures 2030 Partners

OUR NATIONAL INFLUENCING PARTNERS

EQUAL
MEASURES
2030

EL SALVADOR

Plan International El Salvador

In El Salvador for more than 40 years, Plan International has reached more than 700,000 girls and boys through programmes that support and empower them to achieve their rights.

COLOMBIA

Ruta Pacífica de las Mujeres

Founded in 1996, Ruta Pacífica de las Mujeres now works with over 300 women's organizations to promote a feminist vision of peace and non-violent civil resistance for gender equality.

SENEGAL

Forum for African Women

Educationalists (FAWE) - Senegal
FAWE is a pan-African NGO with a focus on quality, gender-responsive education for girls and women in 33 countries across the continent.

KENYA

GROOTS Kenya

GROOTS Kenya was founded in 1995 as a national movement of grassroots, women-led groups, and has since supported over 2,500 women's groups in 14 counties in the country.

INDIA

SAHAJ (Society for Health Alternatives)

Founded in 1984, SAHAJ aims to address the health and education needs of children and women by focusing on issues such as maternal mortality and sexual and reproductive health and rights.

INDONESIA

KAPAL Perempuan

Kapal Perempuan was founded in 2000 with a goal of building a robust movement for gender equality with social movement actors and female leaders across Indonesia.

